Luke Jones, Jr. Recuperating At Home

Luke Jones, Jr., is at home with a broken right elbow and dislocated left knee, following two days in the Belle Glade Memorial Hospital.

Sunday afternoon he was thrown from his bicycle when a malfunction caused the bicyclist to lose control.

Reports from his doctor are that healing and recovery are progressing satisfactorily, with prospects of several weeks of a plaster cast.

Rites Held In S. C. For Bill Garrison

Services for William (Bill) Cluett Garrison, 18, of Spartanburg, S. C., who passed away July 3, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Garrison, were held yesterday at the Blue Funeral Chapel, Spartanburg July 5 with Dr. John L. Slaughter, pastor of the First Baptist Church officiating. Burial was in Greenlawn Memorial Gardens.

The young man had many friends in Belle Glade, having visited relatives here with his parents almost every year. They were here the past Christmas holidays.

He was a graduate of Spartanburg High School and attended Wofford College. He was a member of First Baptist Church, and of the Spartanburg Gun Club, was president of the Trap Shooters Association of S. Carolina, and won state honors in trap shooting in 1952.

Attending the services from Belle Glade were his aunt, Mrs. Eunice Chamberlain, John Davis and James, his brother and a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. McGraw and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Harrell, Jr., of West Palm Beach.

Truck Flat Rate Extra Interstate Is Defeated

An attempt by the truck lines to charge an extra 50¢ on every interstate shipment between South Florida and Southern States would have cost shippers and receivers of Palm Beach County an extra $40,000 annually, was defeated this week when the Florida line with drew from the established charge according to Paul G. Chapman, chairman of the Freight Rate Advisory Committee of the Joint Conference Council.

"This unfair and discriminatory charge which would have been imposed on all points of Florida that lie south of Jacksonville and east of Tallahassee was bitterly contested by the Palm Beach County Freight Traffic Bureau," Caro added. "The proposal was defeated."

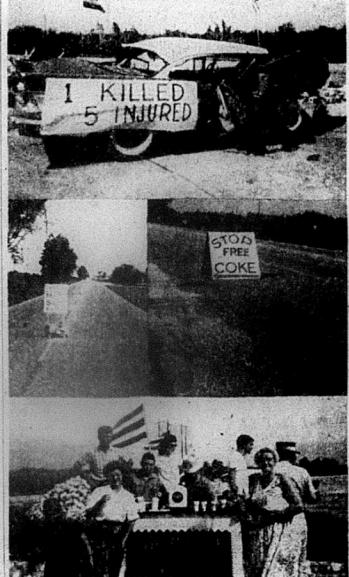

Henry Dwight Green appeared before the Georgia State General Rate Committee in Atlanta opposing adoption of this surcharge and upon publication petitioned the Interstate Commission to suspend it."

Proudly Displaying at New Store

W. E. Spurling Manager of the Fine Foods Store located at the N. E. corner of Canal and NE First Streets is supervising the setting and opening of the store here. An official Open House Day will be observed soon, with announcement in THE HERALD.

"Take A Break — Save A Life" Program Conducted By Jaycees Over Holidays

(Top) Displaying the car in which one was killed and five injured recently near Belle Glade.

Signs inviting the travelers on US No. 27 to "Take A Break" and "Free Coke," the Jaycees were hosts to some 2,000 holiday travelers in their campaign.

Show are some of the thirsty tourists taking advantage of the Jaycees offer.

The fact that there was no serious mishap on No. 27 south of Bay during the time we operated, may not be entirely due to our program," says Committee Chairman Bert Ward of the Jaycees. "But it is a great satisfaction."

"We are encouraged to plan the same thing on other highways."

Ex. Sta. Scientists Receive Promotions

Dr. J. R. Beckenbach, director of the University of Florida's Agricultural Experiment Station, has announced the promotion of 16 agricultural researchers. Commending those promoted, Dr. Beckenbach said that the research conducted over the years by the scientists has been invaluable to the agricultural industry.

Those receiving promotions locally are as follows:

Everglades Experiment Station, Belle Glade: Dr. E. F. Stahl, from assistant to associate plant pathologist; Dr. E. D. Harrel, Jr., from assistant to associate entomologist; Dr. H. L. Chapman, Jr., from associate animal nutritionist, to animal nutritionist.

Students taking the examination with an eye to becoming agricultural experiment station scientists may have a copy of the results sent to the coast guard and may receive an offer of an appointment to the coast guard academy at New London, Connecticut.

The coast guard academy, while similar in almost every way to the naval academy, does not require a congressional appointment. Candidates for appointment compete on a nationwide scale and the tops scholastically and physically are offered appointments.

Previously the coast guard held its own examination in their home port cities. This year the service is using the college entrance examination board test results in lieu of the service administered test. Young men interested in the coast guard should apply to the service with the application of science degree and a commission as ensign upon graduation may write: Coast Guard Cadet, Miami, 32, Florida.

Lars L. Johnson Gets Promotion In Alaska Govt.

Barbara Wedgeworth Oetzman is honeymooning in Alaska, and visiting the former "Doris" Wells, Mrs. Lars L. Johnson in Fairbanks.

The July 1st issue of the Fairbanks News-Miner carried a banner headline of the promotion of Lars Johnson to a high Alaskan government position.

Says the News-Miner, "The appointment of Lars L. Johnson to top-level job of Director of the State Division of Aviation is announced by Commissioner Richard A. Downing."

Johnson, an executive assistant with the Division of Aviation, has directed more than 2,100 hours as a civilian and military pilot.

In a career of state service that dates back to 1950, Johnson has served as deputy tax collector for Alaska at Anchorage, adjutant general of the Alaska National Guard and commander of the Alaska Air National Guard.

An executive assistant in the Aviation Division since December 1954, he has also served as station manager for Alaska Airlines at McGrath and as airways traffic control specialist with the Federal Aviation Agency at Bethel, Unalakleet and Yakutat.

First Baptist Church Announces Unique Candlelight Service Sunday

Rev. Luther A. Key, pastor of First Baptist Church, 17 N. W. Avenue B, announced a unique and spiritual service is to be held Sunday evening, July 14th. The congregation will observe the two church ordinances — that of Baptism and Lord's Supper in a unique fashion. The service will open with Rev. Key baptizing a number of recent converts to Christianity and who have joined First Baptist Church.

The baptismal service will be interspersed by scripture reading and special music arranged and directed by Mr. L. B. Bassett, Minister of Music. The music will be sung by the combined service choirs of the church accompanied at the organ by Mrs. William A. Thiebaud and at the piano by Mrs. John Youngblood.

Following the baptismal service, Rev. Key, assisted by Mr. Lowell Crawford, Assistant Pastor, and the deacons of the church will serve the congregation during the Lord's Supper. The rostrum of the church will be arranged to simulate the arrangement that was used upon the first observance of the supper by Jesus and His closest disciples. This ordinance will also be interspersed with specific scripture selected by Rev. Key.

As the congregation partakes of the ingredients of the Lord's supper, that is, the fruit juice symbolizing the shed blood of Christ, and the unleavened bread, symbolizing the broken body of Christ, the musical presentations will lead them into deeper meditation and thoughts of the risen Saviour.

This will be the first time that First Baptist Church has observed both church ordinances on the same evening since the renovation and enlargement of the auditorium was completed.

The new conditions, in connection with its new furniture and carpeting will be used. The entire hour of worship will be taken up with this service. Rev. Key states that it itself will be a dynamic sermon; one that should lead all participants and all in attendance to a greater understanding of the meaning of the church ordinances as well as to a closer walk with Christ the risen Saviour.

Vicar In Katona, N. Y. During Month Of July

Fr. L. D. Lossing and Mrs. Lossing and family are from Bronx, N. Y., where Fr. Lossing was the pulpit of St. Luke's Parish and also to vacant area that area for the month of July.

During the time Fr. Lossing is there, the Rev. Fr. Richard Boorman, S. T. B., rector of St. Luke, will supply the vicariate of Belle Glade and preside over the congregation of St. John the postle Episcopal Church. While here he plans to do some sightseeing and visit places of interest in South Florida.

BG Ministerial Association Plans Religious Census

The regular monthly meeting of the Belle Glade Ministerial Association was held Monday morning in Jameson Hall of Community Methodist Church.

The Rev. William Boland, president over the meeting those present were the Rev. Lowell Crawford, Rev. Fenton, David Vassar, Rev. Hyatt Edwards, Crawford and Storey.

Rev. Key submitted a plan whereby an area wide religious census will be taken with the various churches participating.

The plan was discussed and adopted to be put into effect beginning Sept. 8th and ending Sept. 10th.

Two new members were received into the association: The Rev. Lowell Crawford, who is associate pastor of the First Baptist Church, and the Rev. J.

P. Vondrack, pastor of the Evergreen Presbytery church.

Another item of interest discussed was a room to be in the new hospital to be used by the ministers of the various churches for counseling and visitation of those who are sick. It was suggested that this item be explored further by a representative committee.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read I John 1:5-2

"He who comes to me I will not cast out." (John 3:7, RSV)

One morning my husband and I visited in the home of one of our daughters. Her husband had been away but returned home earlier than usual that day. One of our grandchildren, seven years old, was playing in a sandpile in the yard and did not know of his father's arrival. When the child saw him come out on the porch, he ran toward him. The child threw himself into his father's arms, just as he was — with dirty hands.

My first thought was to stop him until he washed his hands. But seeing that his father welcomed him joyously just as he was without worrying about the child's being dirty, I changed my

I thought of God's great love that accepts sinners just as they are. In this incident I had a living example of the love of God for the sinner who rises from sin and throws himself, just as he is, into the arms of Christ.

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, we acknowledge our guilt as miserable sinners. Help us to lift ourselves from the dust and help us to come to Thy Son just as we are. Redeem us and help us remain in Thy tender care. We pray in our Savior's name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

We know that God will accept us when we come to Him because He has already come to us.

Trees: An Engineering Miracle

From the sandy dunes of Florida's east coast to the man-made swamps of the lower west coast, trees live and do fairly well. Everywhere they grow, soil differences in the sites trees have become adapted to deriving the necessary nutrients in clay soils of Northern Florida as well as the almost sterile sands of other parts of the state.

One of the factors responsible for this success is the excellent root system developed by the tree with aid root systems. These roots are planted with a narrow slit in the ground, say either in a north-south line or east-west direction. The roots extend sideways in this same direction. And with the wind taking at right angles to the root growth, the trees were blown over. When the winds blew on an axis parallel with the root system the trees withstand the wind.

Then in other species such as the mangrove in brackish new root system developed as adventitious roots, grown out from the stem. These roots attach themselves to the ground and provide additional support for the tree. There is a banyan tree recorded which has a main trunk 42 feet in circumference and over 200 pillar roots, some of these were 10 feet in circumference.

Florida has over 300 native trees, many are similar. But there is a variety which makes life interesting for the naturalist and the gardener. The trees do a more complete job of utilizing both types of roots. They send a long tap root down and send out extensive lateral roots on the surface and underneath the surface level. As a result, some trees such as the elms, birches and hemlocks send out lateral or surface roots. Others such as oaks and pines send down long tap roots and some lateral roots. People who work do a more complete job of utilizing both types of roots.

Florida, along with other states, may be similar. But there is a variety which makes life interesting for the naturalist and the gardener. The trees do a more complete job of utilizing both types of roots.

broken roots. Place the plants in the hole at the same depth as they were in the nursery row, then dip the above ground portion in water.

Be sure to form a shallow basin around each plant to catch the summer rains. Mulching is a good idea as it helps to conserve moisture, maintains the organic material, and reduces soil temperature during the summer.

Steamboating Days - by Lawrence E. Will

Maybe you've seen a sternwheel boat, a-splashing up some river, pushing a passel of barges along a nice dredged-out channel, with a finger-pulling at every bend and a beacon at every sandbar. You seed a guy up there in the pilot house, and you thought you was a-looking at a steamboat captain. Well, you ain't seen nothing but a floating truck driver, for the last steamboat captain he'd done tied up in his home port and pulled his fives for the final time. And you won't see never another one, boy, for there's never going to be no more!

Steamboats is finished, son, killed by the railroads and the highways and the diesel engines, yes, and by the high cost of hired help and lightered wood. They was run off from the St. Johns and the Ocklawaha, from the Suwannee and the Indian River, then from the Kissimmee and Caloosahatchee, and they made their last stand right 'tween Lake Okeechobee, whilst I was a-beatin' the trail.

Now, if you're of a mind to picture the captain of one of them old smoke boats, you'd most likely imagine him standing by his steering wheel some and staring out across a white wash across his less tanned face, with keen blue eyes, and a shock of snowy hair crowned by a battered boatman's cap. And so, I reckoned you had a spruce accurate portrait of old Mark Twain.

Clay Johnson, steamboated when that wasn't neither buoy nor dredged-out channels, and he had no seaview light to pick up his marks at night, managed to get a phone to let him inns, know he'd be an hour late in gettin' home, but he could read the face of the water like a parson readin' scripture. He'd never mistake a wind ripple for a current, or a silver streak that marks a hidden snag or the lines and curves above a shoal. Likewise, he knew how the river changes shape in fog or mist or pitchy darkness. Under a slow bawl he might move his boat up some twisting, hyacinth clogged creek that he'd sprung into the Palm Beach Canal, a mile across the open lake. It seemed as though nobody had thought about measurin' the width of the bridge's open', and we like to didn't make it through. We had to cut all the way back through the bushes by hand with only an inch of daylight on each side. Then, with my LEVIATHAN lashed alongside the OSCEOLA, I jined the skipper in his pilot house as he laid a course for Canal Point.

Cap'n Johnson loved to have a listen to us before we'd cross the lake, and he'd ask how he had his start when he'd come from Louisiana, to Kissimmee in 1883 to help Diston raise his sugar cane, and I reckon he done right well. Then he'd front up at Saenger took me pizazz in the New Orleans World's Fair. After that for a while he run the shops which built Diston's boats and dredges. When he first come here he'd the ROSE ADA with the new 37 foot ROSEADA which navigated the river and the big lake for night into 30 years. She was built by George Steffee. Then he built his own boat to Bassenger as long as that was a dollar in it, the last boat to make this run. Then Cap'n Johnson gave Steffee the boat and George run her on the lake shore near the shops.

From first to last old Cap'n Clad had owned a heap of boats. His first had been the 35 foot sidewheel, MAMIE LOWNE Boat'nd'Boat right products, to the CINCINNATI, in 1893 he built the 54 foot ROSE ADA whose machinery come from the CINCINNATI. He'd named her for his two daughters. Rose Ada was named after the former Mrs. Captain E. P. Rose general manager for Dixie Sugar. She had married E. P. "Lon" Dunn, while Ada was the wife of George G. Steffee. Then in 1899 Johnson replace-

Congressman Bob Sikes Serves Florida Longest

Florida Congressman Bob Sikes has established a new record for length of service by a Floridian serving in the United States House of Representatives.

The previous record for the state was set in 1917 when the late Stephen M. Sparkman of Tampa retired from the House after 11 terms and 22 years of service. This record stood for 45 years, until the current session when Sikes began his twelfth term, having now served more than 22 years in the Congress.

Elected to Congress in 1940 at the age of 33, when Florida had only five Congressional seats, he has seen the number of House seats for the state climb to 12 today. He became Dean of the Florida Delegation in 1951.

Only 29 of the 435 members of the House of Representatives have longer terms of service than Sikes.

Florida has had 15 men to serve in the House of Representatives since becoming a state in 1845 with only Rep. Sparkman having served as long as 11 terms, although two others served 10 terms and another nine served 9 terms.

From 1845 to 1875 the state had only one Representative, getting the second seat in 1875 and a third in 1907. In 1914, the delegation increased to four and in 1933 to six. A fourth member was added in 1943 and two additional seats added in 1953.

In January 1963 saw the state add four new seats for a total of 12. Sikes represents Florida's gives great credit to his mother.

is an inspiration with her hard work and determination that he should have an education.

He attended the University of Georgia where he received a Bachelor of Science Degree in Agriculture in 1927 and then went to the University of Florida on a fellowship where he earned his Masters Degree in 1929.

In 1932 Sikes left the University where he had been working to attend the University of Florida where he had purchased the Valparaiso Star, a weekly newspaper, to begin a new career. Later he purchased the Okaloosa News-Journal and Okaloosa Messenger at Crestview consolidating the paper into the Okaloosa News-Journal by 1940.

His Newspaper was noted for its hard hitting progressive policies. Sikes served as president of the Florida Press Association in 1937.

His entrance into elective office came in 1936 when he was elected to the Florida House of Representatives from Okaloosa County, and was re-elected to the same term during the 1937 and 1938 sessions.

When Congressman Millard Caldwell announced that he would not seek re-election Sikes sought the seat in a district which stretched from Eustis to Jefferson Counties and was elected. He has been re-elected in the eleven elections since that time.

In the Congress, he served for two years on the Foreign Affairs Committee and then six on the Armed Services Committee before gaining a seat on the powerful Appropriations Committee, through which all bills that require appropriations must pass. He has been chairman since under the Constitution tax and appropriations' bills must originate in the House.

Perhaps his major field of interest has been the military status of this nation. In this field he has written a large number of bills to improve the defense posture of the United States. A host of major forestry bills have been authored by Sikes, along with numerous recreational bills. Many social security measures were authored by Sikes.

Waterways have been another prime interest, the Congressman believing that where waterways are improved, business and trade are stimulated and these improvements thus pay for themselves commercially. For the past four years, he served as vice-president of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress.

Sikes noted this week that the Florida delegation consistently works together for projects that will benefit Florida, and that he has been proud to play a part in these programs. He is particularly interested in seeing the Cross Florida Barge Canal constructed.

Sikes serves as a Major General in the Army Reserves, having been a member of the Reserves for 31 years.

In April 1960, he was selected by the Florida delegation to the Democratic National Convention to serve as their chairman.

He is a member of the Elks Club, being served as Lieutenant Governor of the Florida District; a 32nd degree Mason, Knights of Pythias, Moose, Elks VFW, American Legion, 40 & 8 Military Order World War, Republic of China Association, Alpha Gamma Rho, Florida Blue Key, and has been the recipient of many state and national awards. He is a member of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Sikes is former Miss Mrs. Tyler of Laurel Hill. They have two children, Mrs. Bobbie S. Wicks of Tampa and Robert K. Sikes of Orlando.

Other members of the House from the 12th district who entered Congress is as follows: Charles E. Bennett and A. Sydney Herlong, Jr., 1948; James A. Haley and D. R. (Billy) Matthews, 1952; Dame Fasse, 1954; Don Rogers, 1955; Paul Rogers, 1955; and Claude Pepper, Don Fuqua, Edward J. Gurney and Sam Gibbons, 1963.

Noting this new record of service by a Floridian in the House, the House Speaker John McCormack said that "The people of his Congressional district and of Florida are justified in feeling proud of the great work performed by Congressman Sikes. He is not only an outstanding legislator, but a great American."

Congressman Paul Rogers said "This year marks the 23rd of service in the House of Representatives for a fellow Floridian, Bob Sikes. This is a real milestone since he has now served longer than any other man from Florida. Our state has every reason to be proud of the dedicated service of Congressman Sikes, and I join with his many friends in congratulating him for his work in behalf of the people of his state and nation."

UNCLE DAN from DOOLIE says:

Dear Mister Editor:

I am a carpenter where one Congressman is complaining about they not get full time plumbers on the White House payroll. He reports they got 24 bath rooms and if they don't all break down at the same time, one full time plumber would be plenty. What this poor Congressman don't know is that we got certain standard stockpiling procedures for Government work, so it takes 10 to 15 to get enough plumbing materials stored in the White House basement to build 40 bathrooms from scratch. So they figure that materials for 40 bathroom calls for 4 plumbers. That's what I mean.

I see this Congressman's name, but the odds is good that this is his first term in the Congress.

Things is getting more and more complicated in the Pentagon Building, according to the piece. I am a carpenter, and the Pentagon boy has just got another "assistant" that's got 20 words to his title. It says here he is "The Assistant to the Deputy Assistant to the Assistant to the Space Office Deputy Director, Research and Engineering (Tactical Warfare Program) of the Defense Department's Tripartite Corporation Program, Sub-Group M, Military Space Research." When I read that, well, I wrote him a letter.

Editor, I ask you to have him to put the letter on one page and use another sheet for his title. It's a great pity, Mister Editor, we can't git some folks in Washington that appreciates the simple things in life. Per simple example, the Mayor of the little town of Alabama, named Monroeville, I was reading where they built a new town hall and put a brick planter across the front of it. The average person would think that something that needed less care and looked so pretty. Furthermore, he aims to put butter-milk in the water cooler and is going to rig up a new water cooler. I am a carpenter, and we work for a nickel's worth of bread. It would be a great blessing to the country if we had a few sellers like the Mayor of Newton on the Pentagon building.

I have took note through the years that country editors tells about things in simple words the folks can understand, and in a pinch I reckon they ain't no part of America the people has got more confidence in than the grassroots press.

Even here at home things git more complicated ever day. My old lady went to the country store last week to git a gallon of kerosene. In the old days you could kick a Irish potato over the spout, but now he fills the can with kerosene for 20 cent and, to hear him tell it, would have to git another 10 cent for the pot to break even.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dan

Dual Beef Grading Ends Trial Period

The one-year trial period of the new dual grading system for beef ends June 30, scheduled, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service says the dual grading service will be discontinued on July 1, 1963, unless the proposed standards, a trial period of one year — begun on July 1, 1962 — is provided for a practical evaluation of the system. Dual grading will give separate grades for each carcass — separate measures of the two factors that determine the acceptability and value of beef. One grade denotes the quality of the meat and the other grade represents the percentage of salable meat in a carcass will yield.

It's a great pity, Mister Editor, we can't git some folks in Washington that appreciates the simple things in life. Per simple example, the Mayor of the little town of Alabama, named Monroeville, I was reading where they built a new town hall and put a brick planter across the front of it. The average person would think that something that needed less care and looked so pretty. Furthermore, he aims to put butter-milk in the water cooler and is going to rig up a new water cooler.

Twenty men and the same number of women added their names to the County's registered voter list during the past month under the REPUBLICAN PRIMARY.

Thirty-nine women and one man added their names to the Democratic group.

Twenty men and twenty-four women left the Kennedy Klan.

A total of 189 voters canceled registrations — the records don't show how many got disgusted with both parties; 57 of the cancellations were women.
